The children of the 1990s are coming into their own. We, the men and women born in the late '80s or early '90s are now leaving college, entering the workforce, and starting families of our own.

The Nostalgia Shoppe asks you one question: Remember that? Remember when you hoped that Pinky and the Brain would actually take over the world? Remember watching cartoons every Saturday morning? Remember looking everywhere for Waldo and Carmen Sandiego? What about Beanie Babies, Tamagotchis, Silly Putty, or boy bands? We remember those things too and we want to help you relive positive aspects of our childhood.

A visit to our site, www.thenostalgiahoppe.com, will give you a quick burst of nostalgia. Seeing our selection will make you wish you'd never grown up. While you can't stop aging, you can pass on to your children and the next generation a piece of the '90s. You're sure to find something from your childhood on our website to decorate your home or give as a perfect gift to a fellow 90's kid.

So check us out! We've partnered with Amazon.com to make your shopping experience quick, affordable, and fun.
